

THE Hous of fame LIBER PRIMUS.

Incipit Liber Primus Proem.

TURN E US EVERY DREAM TO GODE!
for hit is wonder, by the rode,
To my wit, what causeth swevenes
Either on morwes, or on evenes;
And why the effect folweth of somme,
And of somme hit shal never come;

Why that is an avisoun,
And this a revelacioun;
Why this a dreem, why that a sweven,
And nat to every man liche even;
Why this a fantom, these oracles,
Inoot; but whoso of these miracles
The causes knoweth bet than I, Devyne he; for I certainly
Ne can hem noght, ne never thinke
To besily my wit to swinke,
To knowe of hir signifiante
The gendres, neither the distaunce
Of tymes of hem, ne the causes forwhy this more than that cause is;
As if folkes complexions
Make hem dreem of reflexions;
Or elles thus, as other sayn, for to greet feblenesse of brayn,
By abstynence, or by seeknesse,
Prison, stewe, or greet distresse;
Or elles by disordinaunce
Of naturel acustomaunce
That som man is to curious
In studie, or melancolicus,
Or thus, so inly ful of drede,
That no man may him bote bede;

Or elles, that devocioun
Of somme, and contemplacioun
Causeth swiche dremes ofte;
Or that the cruel tyf unsofte
Which these ilke lovers leden
That hopen over muche or dreden,
That purely hir impressiouns
Causeth hem avisouns;
Or if that spirits have the might
To make folk to dreem anight
Or if the soule, of propre kinde,
Beseech parit, as men finde,
That hit forwet that is to come,
And that hit warneth alle and somme
Of everiche of hir aventures,
By avisouns, or by figures,
But that our flesh ne hath no might
To understonden hit aright, for hit is warned to derkly;
But why the cause is, noght wot I.
Wel worthe, of this thing, grette clerkes,
That trette of this and other werkes;
for I of noon opinioun
Nilas now make mencion,
But now that the holy rode Turne us every dreem to gode!
for never, sith that I was born,
Neno man elles, me biforn,
Mette, I trowe stedfastly,
So wonderful a dreem as I
The tenth day dide of Decembre,
The which, as I can now remembre,
I wol yow tellen every del.

The Invocation.

At at my ginning, trusteth wel,
I wol make invocacioun,
With special devocioun,
Unto the god of slepe
anoon,
That dwelleth in a cave of ston
Upon a streem that comth fro I. etc.
That is a flood of helle unsweete;
Besyde a folk men clepe Cimerie,
Ther slepeth ay this god unmerie
With his slepy thousand sones
That alway for to slepe hir wone is;
And to this god, that I of rede,
Preye I, that he wol me spede
My sweven for to telle aright,
If every dreem stonde in his might.
And he, that mover is of al
That is and was, and ever shal,
So give hem joye that hit here
Of alle that they dreem to yere,
And for to stonden alle in grace
Of hir loves, or in what place
That hem wer levest for to stonde,
And shelde hem fro pover and shonde,
And fro unhappe and ech disese,
And sende hem al that may hem plesse, gg

That take hit wel, and scorne hit noght,
Ne hit misdemen in her thought
Through malicious entencion,
And whoso, through presumpcioun,
Or hate or scorne, or through envye,
Dispyt, or jape, or vilanye,
Misdeme hit, preye I Jesus God
That (dreem he barfoot, dreem he shod),
That every harm that any man
Hath had, sith that the world began,
Befalle him therof, or he sterve,
And graunte he mote hit ful deserve,
Lo! with swich a conclusioun
Hs had of his avisoun
Cresus, that was king of I. yde,
That high upon a gebet dyde!
This prayer shal he have of me;
I am no bet in charite!
Now herkne, as I have you seyde,
What that I mette, or I abreyd.

The Dream.

Of Decembre the tenth day,
When hit was night, to slepe I lay
Right ther as I was wont
to done,
And fil on slepe wonder sone,
As he that wery was forgo
On pilgrimage myles two
To the corseynt Leonard,

To make lythe of that was hard.
At as I sleep, me mette I was Within a temple ymad of glas;
In whiche ther were mo images
Of gold, stondinge in sondry stages,
And mo riche tabernacles,
And with perre mo pinacles,
And mo curious portreytures,
And queynte maner of figures
Of olde werke, then I saw ever for certeynly, I niste never Wher that I was, but wel wiste I,
Hit was of Venus redely,
The temple; for, in portreyture,
I saw anoone right hir figure
Naked fletinge in a see.
And also on hir heed, parde,
Hir rose garland whyt and reed,
And hir comb to kembe hir heed,
Hir dowves, and daun Cupido,
Hir blinde sone, and Vulcano,
That in his face was ful broun.

At as I romed up and down,
I fond that on a wal ther was Thus writen, on a table of bras:
I wol now singe, if that I can,
The armes, and also the man,
That first cam, through his destinee, fugitif of Troye contree,
In Itale, with ful moche pyne,
Unto the strondes of Lavyne.
And tho began the story anoone,

The Hous
of fame.
